1. About this Policy

This Privacy Policy describes how we process your personal data at Spotify AB. From now on,

We and our partners use cookies to personalize your experience, to show you ads based on your interests, and for measurement and analytics purposes. By using our website and services, you agree to our use of cookies as described in our Cookie Policy.

- the personalisation of your user experience. Watch our personalisation explainer video to learn more about this
- the infrastructure required to provide our services
- connection of your Spotify account with another application
- our free or paid streaming options (each a 'Service Option')
 - other Spotify services which include a link to this Policy. These include Spotify websites, Customer Service and the Community Site.

From now on, we'll collectively call these the 'Spotify Service'.

From time to time, we may develop new or offer additional services. They'll also be subject to this Policy, unless stated otherwise when we introduce them.

This Policy is not...

- the Spotify Terms of Use, which is a separate document. The Terms of Use outline the legal contract between you and Spotify for using the Spotify Service. It also describes the rules of Spotify and your rights under your agreement
- about your use of other Spotify services which have their own privacy policy such as Megaphone.

Other resources and settings

Key information about your personal data is right here in this Policy. However, you might want to take a look at our other privacy resources and controls:

- Safety & Privacy Center: A user-friendly hub with summaries of key topics and helpful videos. It includes the 'Your Privacy Controls' video which shows you how to exercise your user rights and make choices about the way we process your data. See Section 2 'Your personal data rights and controls' for more on user rights.
- Account Privacy: Control the processing of certain personal data.
- Notification Settings: Set which marketing communications you get from Spotify.
- Settings (found in the Desktop and Mobile versions of Spotify): Control certain aspects of the Spotify Service such as 'Social' or 'Explicit Content'. On the 'Social' setting, you can:
 - start a Private session
 - choose whether to share what you listen to on Spotify with your followers
 - choose whether to show your recently played artists on your public profile
 - turn off messaging with other users (if messaging is available in your market)

On the 'Explicit Content' setting you can control whether explicit-rated content can be played

We and our partners use cookies to personalize your experience, to show you ads based on your interests, and for measurement and analytics purposes. By using our website and services, you agree to our use of cookies as described in our Cookie Policy.

2. Your personal data rights and controls

Many privacy laws give rights to individuals over their personal data. These laws include the General Data Protection Regulation, or 'GDPR'.

Some rights only apply when Spotify uses a certain 'legal basis' to process your data. We explain each legal basis, and when Spotify uses each one, in Section 4 'Our purpose for using your personal data'.

The table below explains:

- your rights
- circumstances when they apply (such as the legal basis required)
- how to use them

Tailored advertising controls

What is tailored advertising?

- This is when we use information about you to personalise ads to be more relevant. This is also known as interest based advertising.
- An example of tailored advertising is when an advertising partner provides us with information about topics you may be interested in, such as suggesting you might enjoy cooking. This could enable us to show you ads about blenders.

How to control tailored advertising:

- You can control tailored advertising through the 'Tailored Ads' setting.
- You can also control tailored advertising for some podcasts using the link in the episode's show description. This applies where the content provider inserts advertising into the podcasts). This type of advertising is based on your registration information and information about your real-time usage of Spotify, such as what you are currently listening to on our services. For example, if you are listening to a cooking podcast, you may hear an ad for a food processor.

3. Personal data we collect about you

These tables set out the categories of personal data we collect from you. You can also watch our video about Personal Data at Spotify.

Collected when you sign up for the Spotify Service or when you update your account

Category	Description
User Data	Personal data that we need to create your Spotify account and that enables you to use the Spotify Service. The type of data collected and used depends on the type of Service Option you have. It also depends on how you create your account, the country you are in, and if you use third party services to sign in. This may include your: • display name • email address • password • phone number • date of birth • gender • street address (see further details below) • country • university/college (for Spotify Premium Student) • estimated or confirmed age from an Age Check by a third party provider We receive this data from you e.g. from the sign up form or account page. We also collect some of this data from your device e.g. country or region. For more information about how we collect and use this data, see 'Your general (non-precise) location' in the Usage Data category.

We and our partners use cookies to personalize your experience, to show you ads based on your interests, and for measurement and analytics purposes. By using our website and services, you agree to our use of cookies as described in our Cookie Policy.

Collected when you sign up for the Spotify Serviceor when you update your account

- to deliver physical goods or gifts which you have purchased or requested

In some cases, we may use a third party application to help you verify your address, such as Google Maps.

Collected through your use of the Spotify Service

Categories	Description
Usage Data	Personal data collected and processed about you when you're accessing or using the Spotify Service. This includes information such as: Information about how you use Spotify Examples: • information about your Spotify Service Option • your actions with the Spotify Service (including date and time), such as: ◦ search queries ◦ streaming history ◦ playlists you create ◦ your library ◦ browsing history ◦ account settings ◦ interactions with other Spotify users ◦ prompts in AI powered features ◦ transcripts ◦ engagement with ads ◦ your use of third party services, devices and applications in connection with the Spotify Service • inferences (i.e., our understanding) of your age, interests and preferences

We and our partners use cookies to personalize your experience, to show you ads based on your interests, and for measurement and analytics purposes. By using our website and services, you agree to our use of cookies as described in our Cookie Policy.

Your technical data

Examples:

- URL information
- online identifiers such as cookie data and IP addresses
- information about the devices you use such as:
 - device IDs
 - network connection type (e.g. wifi, 4G, LTE, Bluetooth)
 - provider
 - network and device performance
 - browser type
 - language
 - information enabling digital rights management
 - operating system
 - Spotify application version
- information which enables us to discover and connect with third party devices and applications. Examples of this information are the device name, device identifiers, brand and version. Examples of third party devices and applications are:
 - devices on your wifi network (such as speakers) which can connect to the Spotify Service
 - devices your operating system makes available when connecting via Bluetooth, plugin, and installation
 - Spotify partner applications to determine whether the application is installed on your device

Your general (non-precise) location

Your general location includes country, region, state, or city. We may learn this from technical data (e.g. your IP address, language setting of your device) or payment currency.

We need this to:

- meet geographic requirements in our agreements with the owners of content on the Spotify Service

We and our partners use cookies to personalize your experience, to show you ads based on your interests, and for measurement and analytics purposes. By using our website and services, you agree to our use of cookies as described in our Cookie Policy.

your device collects about the way you move or hold your device.

Additional data you may choose to give us

Categories	Description
Voice Data	If voice features are available in your market and you've chosen to use a voice feature, we collect and process voice data. Voice data means audio recordings of your voice.
Message Data	If messaging is available in your market and where you've chosen to use messaging, we collect and process message data. Message data means text or other content you send directly to another user.
Age Check Data	Age Check Data is the data you provide if you (i) choose to use a feature that is subject to an Age Check or (ii) are a parent or legal guardian providing parental consent for a Managed Account ("Age Check"). Examples of Age Check methods we use, which are powered by a third party provider, are: • identity document verification: a photo of your identity document is used to confirm your age. In some cases, we may also use a photo of your face to verify that your ID belongs to you • facial age estimation: a photo of your face which is used to estimate your age All Age Check Data is deleted immediately after the Age Check.
Payment and Purchase Data	If you make any purchases from Spotify or sign up for certain Service Options or a trial, we will need to process your payment data. The exact personal data collected and used will vary depending on the payment method. It will include information such as:

We and our partners use cookies to personalize your experience, to show you ads based on your interests, and for measurement and analytics purposes. By using our website and services, you agree to our use of cookies as described in our Cookie Policy.

Additional data you may choose to give us

	• ZIP/postal code • mobile phone number • details of your purchase and payment history
Precise Location Data	Spotify will only use your precise location data with your permission. You can grant this access through the in-app pop-up and in your device settings. This information allows Spotify to offer a number of features such as better recommendations for nearby concerts and events.
Survey and Research Data	When you respond to a survey or take part in user research, we collect and use the personal data you provide.
Customer Service Data	Information about your contacts with our Customer Service, such as chat conversations and email correspondence.

We receive some of the data mentioned above from third parties. The below table describes the categories of those third parties.

Third party sources that we receive your data from

Categories of third parties	Description	Data categories
Authentication partners	If you register for or log into the Spotify Service using another service, that service will send your information to us. This information helps create your account with us.	User Data
Third party applications, services and devices you connect to your Spotify	If you connect your Spotify account to a third party application, service or device, we may collect and use information from them. This collection is to make the integration possible.	User Data Usage Data

We and our partners use cookies to personalize your experience, to show you ads based on your interests, and for measurement and analytics purposes. By using our website and services, you agree to our use of cookies as described in our Cookie Policy.

Third party sources that we receive your data from ○ audio (e.g. speakers and headphones) ○ wearables (e.g., smart watches) ○ televisions ○ mobile phones and tablets ○ automotive (e.g. cars) ○ games consoles ● services or platforms such as voice assistants or content platforms We'll ask your permission before we collect your information from certain third parties.

Technical service partners	We work with technical service partners that give us certain data. This includes mapping IP addresses to non-precise location data (e.g., country or region, city, state). This makes it possible for Spotify to provide the Spotify Service, content, and features. We also work with technical service partners who help us protect user accounts.	User Data Usage Data
Payment partners and Merchants	If you choose to pay through third parties or by invoice, we may get data from our payment partners. This allows us to: ● send you invoices ● process your payment ● give you what you've purchased If we direct you to a merchant, we receive data from the merchant that is related to your purchase. 	- analyse the effectiveness of our partnership with these merchant partners - understand your interests
Advertising and marketing partners	We receive data about you from certain advertising or marketing partners, including device identifiers such as hashed contact information. They also provide us with inferences, which are the partners' understanding of your interests and preferences. This allows us to deliver more relevant ads and marketing, and measure their performance.	Usage Data
Acquired companies	We may receive data about you from companies we acquire. This is to enhance our services, products, and offerings.	User Data Usage Data

If you download the Spotify mobile app and try Spotify using a logged out user experience, we will collect limited information about your usage of the Spotify Service, including Usage Data. We do this to understand how you are accessing and using the Service. We also do this to ensure we provide the right experience for you, for example based on your country or region. If you decide to create a Spotify account to experience our service in full, then we will combine this data with your Spotify account data.

4. Our purpose for using your personal data

The table below sets out:

- our purpose for processing your personal data
- our legal justifications (each called a 'legal basis') under data protection law, for each purpose
- categories of personal data which we use for each purpose. See more about these categories in Section 3 'Personal data we collect about you'

*Information available to other Spotify users*****

The following personal data is available to other Spotify users:

- your profile name
- your profile photo, if you choose to upload one
- your public playlists, and any associated titles, descriptions and images
- other content you post on the Spotify Service, and any associated titles, descriptions and images
- the number of people who you follow and the number of people who follow you on the Spotify Service (the profiles of those people may be visible depending on your settings)

You or another user can share certain information on third party services, like social media or messaging platforms. This includes:

- your profile
- any content you post on Spotify and details about that content
- your playlists and any associated titles, descriptions and images

When this sharing occurs, the third party service may store a copy of it to support their features.

Personal data you may choose to share

We will only share the following personal data with those outlined in the table below:

- where you have chosen to use a Spotify Service feature, or a third party application, service or device, and we need to share personal data to enable this, or
- if you otherwise grant us your permission to share the personal data. For example, you can do it by selecting the appropriate setting in the Spotify Service or by giving your consent

The categories of personal data processed or shared will depend on the nature of the specific request. The legal basis for this processing is compliance with legal obligations, legitimate interest, or as provided under national laws.

6. Data retention

We keep your personal data only as long as necessary to provide you with the Spotify Service and for Spotify's legitimate and essential business purposes, such as:

- maintaining the performance of the Spotify Service
- making data-driven business decisions about new features and offerings
- complying with our legal obligations
- resolving disputes

Here are some of the categories of our retention periods, and the criteria we use to determine them:

- *Data retained until you remove it
*It's your right to request that we delete certain of your personal data. See the section on 'Erasure' in Section 2 'Your personal data rights and controls' for more information, and the circumstances in which we can act on your request.
You can also delete certain personal data directly from the Spotify Service: for example, you can edit or delete your profile picture. Where users are able to see and update the personal data themselves, we keep the information for as long as the user chooses unless one of the limited purposes described below applies.
- *Data that expires after a specific period of time
*Subject to other applicable retention rules listed in this Section 6, we have set certain retention periods so that data expires after a specific period of time. For example, personal data you may input as part of search queries is deleted after 90 days.
- *Data retained until your Spotify account is deleted
*We keep some data until your Spotify account is deleted. Examples of this include your Spotify username and profile information. We also keep streaming history for the life of an account, for example, to provide retrospective playlists that users enjoy and personalised recommendations that take listening habits into account (for example, Your Time Capsule or Your Summer Rewind). When your Spotify account is deleted, this category of your data is deleted or de-identified.
- *Data retained for extended time periods for limited purposes
*After your account is deleted, we keep some data for a longer time period but for very limited purposes. For example, we may be subject to legal or contractual obligations that

We and our partners use cookies to personalize your experience, to show you ads based on your interests, and for measurement and analytics purposes. By using our website and services, you agree to our use of cookies as described in our Cookie Policy.

- *Age Check Data is deleted immediately after your Age Check is complete.

7. Transfer to other countries

Because of the global nature of our business, Spotify shares your personal data internationally with the categories of recipients listed in Section 5 above. This includes processing of your data in countries whose data protection laws are not considered to be as strong as EU/EEA laws or the laws which apply where you live. For example, they may not give you the same rights over your data.

Transfers of personal data to countries listed here are based on Adequacy Decisions. This means that these countries have adequate laws to protect personal data as determined by the European Commission.

Transfers of personal data to other countries outside of the EU/EEA are protected by Standard Contractual Clauses ('SCCs') as the appropriate safeguard. These clauses require the third party to protect your data and to provide you with EU-level rights and protections. You can exercise your rights under the Standard Contractual Clauses by contacting us or the third party who processes your personal data.

We also identify and use additional protections as appropriate for each data transfer including:

- technical protections, such as encryption and pseudonymisation
- transfer impact assessments
- policies and processes to challenge disproportionate or unlawful government authority requests

8. Keeping your personal data safe

We're committed to protecting our users' personal data. We put in place appropriate technical and organisational measures to help protect the security of your personal data. However, be aware that no system is ever completely secure.

We have put various safeguards in place including pseudonymisation, encryption such as Transport Layer Security (TLS) and AES, access, and retention policies to guard against unauthorised access and unnecessary retention of personal data in our systems. In addition, personal data stored in our computer systems are secured by physical security measures.

To protect your user account, we encourage you to:

- use a strong password which you only use for your Spotify account

We and our partners use cookies to personalize your experience, to show you ads based on your interests, and for measurement and analytics purposes. By using our website and services, you agree to our use of cookies as described in our Cookie Policy.

You can log out of Spotify in multiple places at once by using the 'Sign out everywhere' function on your account page.

If other individuals have access to your Spotify account, then they can access personal data, controls and the Spotify Service available in your account. For example, someone might use your account on a shared device.

It's your responsibility to only allow this to happen if you're comfortable sharing your personal data with them. Anyone else's use of your Spotify account may impact your personalised recommendations.

9. Children

Note: This Policy doesn't apply to Managed Accounts or Spotify Kids except where those respective privacy notices say so.

The Spotify Service (outside of Managed Accounts or Spotify Kids) that is tied to this privacy policy has a minimum age limit in each country or region (the "Age Limit").

If you're under the Age Limit, do not create or use the standard Spotify Service. Instead, we recommend asking a parent or guardian to create a Managed Account for you, where available. If you are above the Age Limit but under the age of majority in your country (a "Minor"), you may use the Spotify Service only with the consent of your parent or legal guardian.

We do not knowingly collect or use personal data from children under the applicable Age Limit outside of Managed Accounts or Spotify Kids. If you are a parent or guardian and become aware that your child, who is under the applicable Age Limit, has provided personal data to Spotify in any other context, contact us. If we learn that we've collected the personal data of a child under the applicable Age Limit, we'll take reasonable steps to delete the personal data. This may require us to delete the Spotify account for that child.

When using a shared device on the Spotify Service, be cautious about playing or recommending any inappropriate content to Minors.

*10. Third-Party Links ****

The Spotify Service may include links to third-party websites, plug-ins and applications. Clicking on such links may allow third parties to collect or share data about you. Spotify does not control these third-party websites and is not responsible for their privacy practices.

11. Changes to this Policy

We and our partners use cookies to personalize your experience, to show you ads based on your interests, and for measurement and analytics purposes. By using our website and services, you agree to our use of cookies as described in our Cookie Policy.

12. How to contact us

For any questions or concerns about this Policy, contact our Grievance Officer/Data Protection Officer any one of these ways:

- email us at: privacy@spotify.com
- write to us at: Spotify, Regeringsgatan 19, 111 53 Stockholm, Sweden, Attn: Data Protection Officer

For the purposes of the GDPR, Spotify AB is the data controller of personal data processed under this Policy.
